Objective

The objective of the role of girls in nation building is to highlight how educating, empowering, and supporting girls helps in the overall progress and development of a country.

Key objectives include:

1. Promoting Education

Encourage girls to receive quality education so they can contribute knowledge and skills to society.

2. Achieving Gender Equality

Ensure girls have equal rights and opportunities in education, employment, and decision-making.

3. Economic Development

When girls grow into educated women, they participate in the workforce, start businesses, and strengthen the economy.

4. Social Development

Girls play an important role in building healthy families, promoting values, and improving community welfare.

5. Leadership and Participation

Encourage girls to take leadership roles in politics, science, technology, and social services.

6. Nation's Progress and Stability

Empowered girls help reduce poverty, improve health and education levels, and contribute to sustainable national development.
